<sup>4</sup> This is a reference to the NPP, intended as a replacement for Chernobyl. It was recently approved for a loan by EBRD. It is still to be finished and retrofitted to acceptable western standards.

<sup>8</sup> The two words Fianna Fáil, taken together, denote the Irish political party which has most been in power since the foundation of the State. In current times, particularly since the spurt in economic development in the sixties and the consequent building boom with its attendant land rezoning which is currently the object of a number of judicial tribunals, the term Fianna Fail has tended to become associated with cronyism.
